

The Permanence of Your Investment

They smile. You melt. Their first cry makes your world crumble. You snuggle and cuddle, trying to savor each moment. Days. Weeks. Months. Time unrestrained, has them growing faster than your heart can handle. Your love grows beyond measure. The moments you savored so sweetly are memories held dear. And yet if only you could picture the way they looked when you held them. The way they drowned themselves in laughter wrestling with dad. If I could stop time and freeze that moment, that memory, for even just a second, so you could see it once more, crystal clear, it would be...priceless.
